

Go Into The Story Resource: Daily Dialogue

The Daily Dialogue series not only as great information to aid in our dialogue-writing practice, each daily post reminds us of some great movies.

On May 16, 2021, Go Into The Story turns 14 years old — you can read the very first blog post here. I led with this paragraph:

Welcome to Go Into The Story! Right now, it's nothing but a humble, threadbare blog, but I hope it will evolve into an active resource for aspiring screenwriters, as well as a community for anyone interested in

And evolve it did! To the point where it has been named "Best of the Best" Scriptwriting Website in the 20th Annual Writer's Digest Best Websites for Writers list.

To celebrate 14 years of blogging about screenwriting, writing, Hollywood, movies, TV, and the creative life, each day in May, I'm going to feature a piece of Go Into The Story trivia, plus a writing resource you can find in the site's archives. This is not an exercise in self-congratulations so much as I figured readers could use some tips about how to best use the site. With — to date — over 100 archive topics, there is a LOT of content here. Hopefully, these posts for the next 31 days will clue in more recent followers and remind long-time readers about resources you can use to facilitate deepening your understanding of the writing craft.

Today's trivia: I started the site on Blogger. Once I became the Official Screenwriting Blog of the Black List eight years ago, Go Into The Story switched to Word Press. Then seven years ago, Medium invited me to bring my blog to their platform.

Today's Go Into The Story resource: Daily Dialogue.

Want some dialogue-writing inspiration? Check out the 4,000+ Daily Dialogue posts, one for each consecutive day I've updated Go Into The Story since its launch in 2008.

Resource Tip: One way for a writer to upgrade their dialogue-writing chops is to study dialogue written by other writers. These links above represent some of the best movie dialogue ever penned, plus an incredible diversity of movies from all eras, genres, and countries.

Last summer during my two-month break from blogging, I did quite a bit of reflecting about Go Into The Story. One decision I made: After twelve years of Daily Dialogue, I replaced it with Page One. Readers have responded to that really well, so I will continue that for the foreseeable future. Meanwhile, the Daily Dialogue archives are a resource rich with inspiration. Check them out!

Finally, each day this month, I want to take the opportunity to thank you for supporting Go Into The Story. I'd love to hear from you in RESPONSES. When did you start following the blog? What are your favorite features? And as always, if you have any suggestions, feel free to suggest away.
